Cantor Eric Schulmiller

Cantor Eric Schulmiller is the cantor for the Reconstructionist Synagogue of the North Shore, Port Washington, LI. He has long been active in the Jewish environmental movement, including initiatives for community-sustainable agriculture and carbon-neutral energy use in homes and synagogues. He is a self-described "Jewish foody" and adherent of eco-kashrut and contributes to websites such as "The Jew & The Carrot" (jcarrot.org). He started by greening his own home, then greened his synagogue and has raised the environmental awareness of his congregants. He has written articles and spoken on all those subjects at environmental conferences held by Jewish organizations.

Our SRJC leaders will update us about the environmental initiatives at our own synagogue. Please join us for an informative evening. Bring your questions and suggestions, please!

Free of charge - and we have a little green gift for all attendees.
